Spring 2021 - NEWSLETTER

MARICOURT NEWSLETTER MARCH 2021

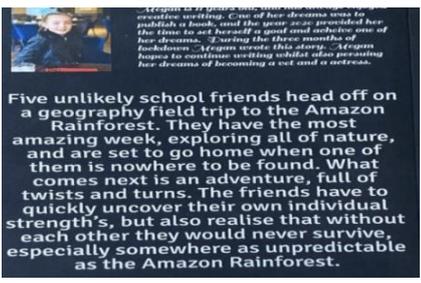

Dear parents/carers

I am sure you are all relieved, as we are, to have our students back at school. As a parent, I know how hard home schooling can be and how much pressure you felt to get things done and to get your child through a certain amount of work each day with the fear that they will fall behind or that they will miss big chunks of their education. Please rest assured they are back now and we are working hard to address any gaps in learning as part of our renewed Recovery Curriculum offer. Juggling work, home and being in lockdown has been difficult for us all, but for some of our students (and families) struggling with social communication difficulties it has been more traumatic. Therefore, I have decided to focus this term's newsletter on supporting such students and their families. I hope you find the information useful.

Many Thanks

Jo Cowans (SENDCo)

CELEBRATION TIME!

Our Year 7 student Megan Cawthron, has written and published a book during lockdown.

Megan has been attending the employability SEND programme during her time at Maricourt this has inspired her and given her the resilience to keep going. She has also set up a lockdown business. Above is the blurb about the book. I have also provided the link for anyone who wishes to support her. It is only £4.

Autism

- Autism Awareness week aims to shine a light on autism - to increase awareness about people and especially children who have autism and deliver information on how important it is to detect an early diagnosis
- The National Autistic Society are a great resource to use and they have put together a forum page. On the forum people can raise questions or concerns and get help and support from other families and professionals. You can even offer support on other people's threads. Sometimes it is good to talk and with a forum you do not have to worry about face to face interaction or even revealing your name. You can access the forum by clicking on this link
